

JELD-WEN Germany relies on iSecurity by Raz-Lee Security

Roedental, Germany 10 June 2013 - Raz-Lee Security Inc., a leading provider of IBM i security, auditing and compliance solutions, today announced that JELD-WEN Germany has purchased a number of iSecurity solutions by Raz-Lee Security.

JELD-WEN Germany is a part of the global JELD-WEN group of companies, a leading interior door manufacturer. William Stamp, responsible for security and compliance at JELD-WEN Germany, chose to work with iSecurity after checking numerous alternative solutions.

JELD-WEN began working with iSecurity in October 2012 with the use of Firewall for logging and controlling access to the central IBM i system. Firewall was installed quickly and was productive in the context of further customer demands, so the interest in the product grew over time.

In November 2012 they began implementing iSecurity Authority on Demand in order to check the specific eligibility requirements of corporate employees. They installed Change Tracker to audit and report on changes of objects in production libraries, in particular for their internal Change Gear solution in order to synchronize their internal ticketing system for application development. It was extremely relevant important to JELD-WEN that Change Tracker can record and audit 100% of the object changes made. Moreover, these changes are added to Change Gear ticket numbers. Thus, a completely auditable change management chain is ensured.

In March 2013, JELD-WEN continued with the successful implementation of the above-mentioned iSecurity modules and installed Audit and Visualizer Business Intelligence (BI) to cover additional requirements in the area of compliance reporting. In parallel, JELD-WEN's sister company implemented the iSecurity solutions at their Sweden facility.
